

Rector's Message

My dear Students of Loyola College:

As you know so well, the Resurrection of Our Blessed Lord is celebrated each year with the solemn ceremonies of Holy Saturday and Easter Sunday, and the liturgy of the Roman Catholic Church ranks this feast above all others because of its theological importance.

St. Paul in his first letter to the Corinthians says, "If Christ has not risen, then our preaching is groundless and your faith, too, is groundless." But Christ did rise from the dead glorious and triumphant and, by so doing, gave every last one of us the title to a boundless optimism and well founded hope for brighter days ahead.

Sincerely, R. Bratt.

ASO Presents Plans At Activity Meeting

By John Byrnes and Thomas Himmelheber

Plans which would eliminate a major conflict between the various campus activities were presented at a meeting held in Cohn Hall on March 11.

Called by the president of the Academy of Student Orientation, Bob Chester, the meeting was attended by the student heads and faculty advisors of almost every activity on campus. The group was addressed by Chester, by Fr. Murphy, the newly-appointed moderator of the A.S.O., by John Synodinos, president of the Student Council, and by Fr. Hoggson, Dean of Studies.

Establish Dates

Father Murphy offered a solution to the problem which arises when two or more organizations plan their own affair for the same date; an example would be the Glee Club concert and an ROTC dance, which were scheduled on the same night last semester.

According to this plan, set dates would be established for the major activities.

This calendar would allow for evening meetings both on and off campus; however, Fr. Murphy reminded all those present that preferences should be submitted to him by next September.

Orientation

Bob Chester asked all activity heads to endeavor to hold their election for new officers before May. He also requested each activity to put on a display during the freshmen orientation next year, since a room will be made available for each activity.

Fr. Hoggson then mentioned that there will be a three-day frosh orientation next year.

It was reported by John Synodinos that the majority of those activity heads who returned the A.S.O. questionnaire expressed their satisfaction with the present number of two free periods per week.

A.S.O.

Although the A.S.O. is not a large-sized activity, it stimulates the interest of new students in the co-curricular activities on campus. This is largely done through its frosh orientation.

Each year the A.S.O. publishes a handbook for the incoming class, and, for the class of '63, the book is to contain a student manual, which will cover the College disciplinary and athletic regulations.

Scholarship Winners

Winners of competitive scholarships at Loyola College have been announced by the Rev. George S. Smardon, S.J., Admissions Officer, as follows:

Two grants with a total value of $3,000 each were won by Thomas E. Scheye, 521 Nottingham Road, a senior at Loyola High School, and William T. Define, 207 Westowne Road, a senior at Mt. St. Joseph High School.

Two grants with a total value of $1,480 each were awarded to Phillip E. Middleton, 38 Dungarrie Road, and George R. Sunderland, Route 16, Box 506-A, both seniors at Mt. St. Joseph High.

A total of 331 students representing 15 Maryland high schools, public and private, participated in the competitive examinations.

Spring Concert

The Loyola Glee Club is preparing for the Annual Spring Concert which will be held this year on Saturday, April 18, at 8:30 P.M. in Cohn Hall.

Combined numbers of "Green-sleeves" and a medley from "Carousel" will be rendered by the Glee Club, who will be appearing for the first time in their green blazers and gray trousers.

The Glee Club of Dumbarton Junior College, Washington, will also perform in the Concert. Of added interest will be the Dumbarton Octet, a very entertaining female vocal group.

A record dance will be held following the Concert. The admission charge for the Concert and Dance will be one dollar per student, a very reasonable price for a very enjoyable evening.

On March 8, the Glee Club participated in the NFCCS Choral Festival at Catholic U. They will perform at Saint Joseph's, Emmitsburg, on April 8, at Trinity College on the 12; and will also travel to Dumbarton on April 26.

News Briefs

Radio Club

Hi-fi equipment will be discussed by Al Slomba at the meeting of the Radio Club April eighth. The meeting is open to the public and all those interested in building a hi-fi rig are especially invited. The Radio Club has a standing committee on amplifiers and sound systems and is open to all students.

Sodality

Bob Eisenzopf, Sodality librarian attended the recent meeting of the Catholic Library Association of the Baltimore-Washington area. The speaker at the meeting was Anne Fremantle, Catholic biographer and historian, who spoke on "Menus for Minds".

The Sodality library has expanded in the past year and its supply of Catholic books and periodicals has received the compliment of being referred to by our College library.

Mendel Club

It has been announced that the lecture by Ken Billeb on "Lamarck's Theory of Evolution" has been changed from March 25 to April 8.

Picture Taking

Just in case anyone is wondering who those gentlemen are roaming through the classrooms, they are snapping shots for next year's catalog — a promising sight.

'Lady's Not For Burning' Set For April 9, 10, 11

The Loyola College Dramatic Society will present "The Lady's Not for Burning" on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evening, April 9, 10, and 11. The play, which was written by Christopher Fry, will be held in Cohn Hall Auditorium, at 8:30 p.m. The admission price is set at $1.25 per couple.

The play, which takes place in Medieval England, will have junior Social Science major Paul Cawthorn in the leading male part as Thomas Mendip. The female lead will be acted out by Barbara McNamara of Mt. St. Agnas College, portraying Jeanette Jourdemayne.

The remainder of the cast includes freshmen John Baynes and Bob Hare, sophomore Dennis Smyth, juniors Frank detorie and James Molloy, senior John Synodinos, as well as two Loyola College graduates: actor Jim Eagle and director Bob Dunn. There are also two young ladies from Notre Dame of Maryland College, namely, Joan Griber and Mary Johnson.

Graduate Appointments

By Ken Gray

Assistantships in Physics and Math have been offered to seven members of the Senior Class. The seniors who have honored in this manner so far are James Slifker, and John Kane. More offers are anticipated by the faculty members of the Physics and Math sections, but many graduate schools have not sent out their notices yet. The deadline for notification is April 15. The grants are awarded on the basis of the Graduate Record Test given in January.

Jim Slifker, a Math major, has received offers from Notre Dame, Wisconsin, and LSU. Jim is the President of the Math Club, and an active member of the Physics and Radio Clubs. Carnegie Tech has offered Jack Serio a grant. Jack is the treasurer of the Glee Club and member of the Physics Club.

John Oppelt, a Math major has heard from Notre Dame and LSU.

John is a busy man on campus Vice-President and Secretary of the Math Club, Layout Editor of the Yearbook, and member of the Classics Academy. Notre Dame has requested the presence of Ted Madey, Physics major. The Glee Clubs salutes Ted as President; the Physics Club and Alpha Sigma Nu embrace him as an active member.

Notre Dame has also offered financial aid to Dick Zamecki, a Physics major. Dick is President of Debating Society and a representative to the Student Council. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, Tau Kappa Alpha, and the Physics-Engineering major, received his offer from Penn State, and John Kane, Physics major, was offered a grant by Carnegie Tech.

Another accomplishment worthy of praise is the rating which five of the seniors achieved in the National Science Foundation test.

Editorials

Ever been home sick? Last year 43,000 students from countries throughout the world journeyed to United States colleges and universities. Ever felt out of place? Of these students 15,000 were Catholics and only twenty per-cent of them attended Catholic institutions.

Most of us have expressed the desire at one time to travel and see the world; for the majority this wish is never fulfilled. Next to traveling ourselves, the best thing is to talk to people who have traveled. To the foreign students in our colleges, the United States is a strange land and many have never been in an American home or met Americans outside of the classroom. They are lonely and eager to make friends here in the United States. Here is an opportunity to make their stay in the United States more pleasant, do some arm chair traveling and learn foreign customs, language and opinion.

By far the most important aspect of this situation is the fact that eighty per-cent of the Catholic foreign students are in non-Catholic institutions and are completely cut off for their stay in this country from a Catholic atmosphere. The students who study here are frequently the young leaders of their nation when they return home. If we lose the opportunity of showing them Christian charity while they are our guests, we may do irreparable harm.

The Christian Family Movement is the local agent for the Foreign Visitors Service. The Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Damon Nolan of 1915 Knollton Road, Timonium. They have a list of 99 foreign Catholic students in the Baltimore area, Need we say more?

The Greyhound

Moderators and Activity heads at ASO meeting March 11 hear new plans for orientation and scheduling.

Lacrosse Team To Encounter W & L, March 31

By LAWRENCE R. STRUM

After two good scrimmages with Navy and the Maryland Lacrosse Club, the lacrosse team is beginning to shape up. They started off slow in both games, but improved as the contests progressed.

In the M.L.C. scrimmage, they were opposed by two outstanding players from last year's team, Bill Hooper on defense and Chuck Franklin on attack.

The team's main difficulty, so far, has been their inability to clear the ball with any consistency. This was particularly evident in the Navy game. However, against the Midshipmen, the team played a very respectable second half, although outscored four goals to one.

If their last half showing against Navy is any indication of the coming season, the team could surprise many people, including a certain local newspaper reporter.

The Hounds open March 31, against Washington & Lee.

Coach Colimore Is Optimistic; 3 Vets Return

By JOE BOSSLE

The Greyhound tennis team will begin league play with two home matches on April 10 and 14, against Johns Hopkins and Western Maryland, respectively. These two matches should be indicative of the potential of this year's squad.

Coach Vince Colimore has visions of improvement over last season's disappointing record due to the return of seasoned performers Sam Donohue, Don Torres and Frank Wieszynski from last year's team; and Senior Bob O'Connor and Tad Karpers, who did not compete last year.

Another source of encouragement is the large turnout of new talent this year. These new men headed by Sophs. Dick Tilghman and Ken Donohue and Frosh Dan Michaelis and Dave Mulrooney should give the team a big lift. Other Frosh include Ted Herget, Lou French, Bill Knoche, Charles Helldorfer and Joe Chepaitis.

Paul DiPino (above) will captain the Greyhound baseball team this season. The Hounds will play the next home game on Monday, March 30. Hofstra College will provide the opposition. Game time will be 3 p.m.

Eastern Liturgy Here April 3

In accordance with their resolution of 1957, the NFCCS will sponsor an Eastern Rite Mass in Loyola's chapel, Friday April 3 at 12 noon. Following the appeal of the late Pope Pius XII to establish a "Dies Orientalis" in Latin Rite seminaries and universities, Loyola's chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students have arranged for a Byzantine Mass (More properly the Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom) to be celebrated here.

Attendance at the Liturgy is valid of course for any Mass obligation.

Among the differences with the Latin Rite is the use of vernacular during the liturgy, in this case English. The liturgical language is Old Slavonic which is the close root language of Russian and Polish. The other noticeable difference is the distribution of the Eucharist under the species of both bread and wine.

Erin's Envoy Addresses Alumni

Ambassador John J. Hearne of Ireland will be the principal speaker at the annual Communion Mass and Breakfast of the Loyola College Alumni Association on Sunday April 12.

Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 A.M. in the college chapel by Reverend Father Beatty.

Dr. Hearne has long worked for international cooperation from the days of the League of Nations to the recent conferences on the peaceful use of atomic energy. He is co-draftsman of the Irish Constitution and has represented Ireland in Washington since 1950.

The breakfast is open to students and friends of Loyola as well as the alumni. Reservations should be made through the Alumni Office in Millbrook House.

"No Questions"

One of the most popular TV shows the past year has been Perry Mason, a series about Erle Stanley Gardner's lawyer hero. It is amazing to see this man, when all seems lost, pull a surprise out of the air, prove his client's innocence, and disclose the identity of the real murderer, week after week. In case you may not have seen Perry Mason in action, the following excerpt from one of his recent episodes shows how he does it:

The scene is the courtroom. Court is in session, and the District Attorney Hamilton (His friends call him Ham) Burger is questioning a witness.

"You say you saw the body being pushed into the river?"

"Yes sir, I did."

"And did you see who pushed the body into the river?"

"Yes sir, I did."

(Sparkling dialogue is a feature of the show.)

And is this person who pushed the body into the river present here in the courtroom today?"

"Yes sir, he is. It's the defendant, right over there."

At this point the courtroom bursts into a uproar, prompting the judge (who was awakened by the noise) to bang his gavel and ask for order.

When all is calm again, Mr. Burger thanks the witness, then smirking, signals Mr. Mason to cross-examine. A hush falls over the room as the great lawyer rises, shuffles a few papers in his hands, and say majestically, "No questions."

"No questions?", exclaims the defendant, "I didn't push any..."

"Don't worry about it", consoles Mason.

Ham Burger calls another witness to the stand, and asks, "Did you see the body being pushed into the river..."

"Yes sir, it was him — the defendant."

Again the spectators go berserk, and this time the judge threatens to clear the courtroom if similar outbursts occur. "A man can't even get a few minutes rest", he mumbles, as he puts his head down on the desk again.

The District Attorney, still smirking, asks Mason to cross-examine. His fantastic mind working feverishly, exploring all crevices in the witness' testimony he rises and shouts with all the power and fury that have made him so famous, "No questions!!!"

The defendant by this time is in tears. "Mr. Mason, Mr. Mason, I'm begging you; ask him a question, anything, his name, what he does for a living, anything. Please!!! I'm going to the gas chamber if you don't ask any questions."

Perry leans over, pats his client on the back, and, smiling confidently, says, "Don't worry about it. I've got everything under control."

Suddenly, from the back of the courtroom, and anguished voice rings out. "Wait! Wait! I can't stand it anymore. I did it. I did it. I pushed the body into the river. I can't live with myself anymore, knowing..."

Whereupon, Mason leaps upon his desk, and yells, "Take him away!" The crowd, whipped into a frenzy by the genius of the famous criminal lawyer, surges forward and carries him from the courtroom on their shoulders, leaving Hamilton Burger, alone, and defeated.

"How does he do it?", Ham murmurs, "The man is uncanny."

He looks up and there, framed in the doorway is Perry Mason, returning to his scene of citty. Burger, straightening his tie, rises, extends his hand, and says humbly, "Mason, I've got to hand it to you. You were tremendous. Can I ask you a question?"

"No questions; no questions."
